Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

THE government boys chopped down the postoffice pecan-trees Monday and carted them off to the wood-pile. Yell Yarbrough, wiping windows at the postoffice Tuesday noon, was explaining to anyone who would listen that "I had nothing to do with it."

Profiteering to Be Stopped; Increases Must Be Reported

Advance Permitted Only to Absorb Increased Payrolls

JOHNSON IN SPEECH

He Urges Merchants to Battle Any Increase by Their Jobbers

WASHINGTON — (P) — The declaration that the National Recovery Administration would not countenance unreasonable price increases was made Tuesday by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson in addressing retail dealers at the opening of the hearing on their code of fair competition.

The retail trade was urged by Johnson to resist price increases in the near future from jobbers who supply them with goods.

Johnson said so far as speculative price rises are concerned his administration considered it "our duty to see that there is no runaway market."

He said the National Recovery Act would increase prices to meet new costs imposed by compliance with the trade chapters, but because of this "there is no reason to go way beyond reason."

Must Submit Prices

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Cabinet Advisory Board of the Recovery Administration decided Monday as a step to protect the public against profiteering, to request all industries now operating under codes to submit information on recent price increases.

In addition, at the suggestion of the newly created Central Statistical Board of the government, each code approved in the future would include provisions requiring submission of such statistical information as may be necessary by the administrator.

This decision marked the first of the long-planned moves of General Hugh Johnson to keep tab on rising prices and prevent them soaring upward faster than the purchasing power of the nation can be stimulated.

This, the administrator contends, would be fatal to the program since buying ability insufficient to consume the fruits of industry has been one of the underlying causes of the depression.

Setback for Unions

WASHINGTON — The first major defeat of organized labor in its campaign to unionize American industry under the NRA codes was furnished here Monday when it was reported that the automobile manufacturers had gained the consent of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson for inclusion in the automobile code of a clause permitting the industry to continue open shop policy.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had assailed the clause with unusual vehemence during the recent open hearing on the automobile code, and he termed the manufacturers guilty of "poor sportsmanship and indefensible conduct," for presenting it.

Retention of the clause would be rated a considerable victory for the industry and rather a direct blow at President Green's hopes of using the NRA as a vehicle to ride unionism into great power.

Finishing touches were being put on the code Monday night and it will be submitted Tuesday before the full Code Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the code.

Ford's Influence

The automobile manufacturers, who have operated since motor cars were first built on an open shop basis, have insisted on maintaining that type of relationship with their workers. Another phase of the situation which is influencing the administration, it was reported, is the attitude of Henry Ford, who, thus far, has held himself aloof from all the negotiations.

Mr. Ford, it is reported, will accept the terms of any code provided it does not interfere with his policy of dealing with his employees as he sees fit, which is not through agents of organized labor. Although Mr. Ford's position has not become known publicly, it is believed that General Johnson secretly has been made familiar with it and that this is an added incentive toward the general's giving consent to the qualifying clause on labor provisions.

There are four principal hereditary castes in Hindunism—Brahmins, or sacerdotal class; Kshatriyas, or military class; Vaishyas, mercantile or agricultural class, and Sudras, or servile class.

There is a suspicion that the same crew that stole the capitol dome made off with the pecan-trees.

Yell Yarbrough, however, gives a different account of it. Says Yell: "One of the gents that came down here to look over the plans for the new sidewalk and lawn asked me if I was a Republican or a Democrat, and seeing that he probably was a Republican, I said, 'I'm a Republican. Aren't you?'"

"Blazes no," he replies, "I'm a Mississippi Democrat."

And if Yell's story is true, we'll just have to say grace over the pecan-trees—and let it go at that.

The dirt is out!

I told all you suckers to clamp your hands on your pocketbooks when the Silver Shirts arrived—and the organizers replied that they weren't soliciting anything. But they gave no satisfactory account as to what is keeping them up.

This morning's mail brings me their confidential "L" book from Lock Box 5, Shreveport, La., on the back page of which I read:

"Here is my contribution of ten dollars to the Fighting War Chest of the Protestant Christian Militia of America—the Silver Shirts! (Send postal money order, or currency by registered mail.)"

And right below this is the well known dotted line.

Ten dollars—the tenth part of a hundred—chumps, read it and weep!

A bulletin from Arkansas Dollies, Inc., agency handling The Star's national advertising, tells me:

"An Arkansas one car out of 17.8 is a new model, leading the entire nation."

"Production for the whole United States in the month of June was 260,645 units, as against 190,204 a year ago."

Where is the money coming from to pay for all these new cars? you ask. Well, it will come. It always has in years past.

When we didn't buy, we didn't sell anything either.

When we didn't buy automobiles from Detroit, our farmers didn't get much for their cotton, and they didn't get anything at all for their spring produce.

Busy automobile workers will buy spring produce—and Hope and Hempstead county will have a year-round farm income once more.

Mahony Picked by Oil Independents

Nominated for Committee of 15 Under Petroleum Code

WASHINGTON. — (P) — President Roosevelt is expected in administration circles to announce early this week the membership of the Committee of 15 to govern the oil industry with a federal agency under the petroleum code signed Saturday.

Approximately 60 nominations have been filed with the NRA and Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, by factions of the petroleum world.

Nineteen nominees for the committee were submitted to Johnson Monday by the Emergency Committee of 54 organized under auspices of the American Petroleum Institute, the group leading the fight for price fixing.

Twelve nominees were submitted by the independent factions under Joseph Black of Marshall, Texas, the only group that refused to accept the code. They include Joe K. Mahony, of El Dorado, Ark.

Thomas Jefferson died on July 4, 1826, exactly 50 years after the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, which is generally deemed the child of his brain.

Texarkana Doctor Hurt in Collision; Negro Driver Flees

Dr. J. F. Williams, Miller Co. Secretary, Treated Here

HIT NEAR GUERNSEY

Negro Man and Two Women Sought by Officers

Dr. J. F. Williams of Texarkana, secretary of the Miller county medical society, was painfully injured late Monday night on the paved Fulton road when his automobile was struck and knocked from the highway by another car occupied by a negro driver and two negro women.

Suffering from loss of blood, chest injuries and gashes about the head and body, Dr. Williams was removed from the wreckage of his automobile by Homer McKinney, passing motorist, and brought to Josephine hospital.

The negroes fled from the scene of the accident. They had not been located Tuesday, police said. Identity of the negroes is not known.

The accident occurred a short distance east of Guernsey, about 11 o'clock. Dr. Williams, traveling alone in his Buick sedan, was en route from Texarkana to Atkins, Ark., to visit his father who is suffering from paralysis.

The negro car was headed west toward Fulton.

Both automobiles were badly damaged. A wrecker brought the cars to Hope.

Dr. Williams, aged about 37, has been a practicing physician of Texarkana several years, and is head of the Texarkana Clinic.

He was removed from Josephine hospital early Tuesday to his home.

Spa Prosecutor to Aid in Shank Case

Emory Is Called in by Prosecutor Halbert of Malvern

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Prosecuting Attorney Emory Monday night confirmed a report that he had been asked to assist in the prosecution of Mark H. Shank, Akron, (O.), attorney charged with the murder of poisoning of Alvin Colley, his wife and two of the Colley children.

"Miller Halbert, prosecuting attorney to Malvern, asked me to assist him in this case and I agreed to do so," said Mr. Emory.

When Shank was brought to Hot Springs the night he was arrested, he asked to see Prosecutor Emory. The latter conferred with Shank. The Akron lawyer wished to have certain points of Arkansas law explained to him, which the prosecutor did. Shank asked Prosecutor Emory to defend him. The offer, because of his official position as prosecuting attorney of this district, was declined. Shank is expected to be indicted early next month when the grand jury convenes in Benton.

Carter Charges "Deal" for Bonds

Declares State Means to Pay Off Those Able to Enter Suit

TEXARKANA, Ark.—Representative B. E. Carter of Miller county Saturday night charged a $60,000 "hush fund" bill relating to the state's highway bond refunding program will come up for passage in the legislature this week, which in his opinion will "ring the bell as the most dishonorable measure ever proposed in the Arkansas legislature."

He said supporters of the measure have admitted its purpose was to pay off such states as Pennsylvania, Nevada and others that hold highway bonds and they alone are in a position to sue the state in the United States Supreme Court.

It was explained that only state governments can sue another state and that the $60,000 will pay off the bonds held by states. Other holders of Arkansas highway bonds would be unable to sue and the Arkansas refunding program would be free from attack.

"A busted bond in the sticks and some widow's trust fund, have to swallow the refunding act and like it, because they can't sue," Carter declared, "but sovereign states are to be given different treatment because they can take their claims to the supreme court."

Bulletins

NEW YORK. — (P) — The county grand jury listened for two hours Tuesday to evidence presented by United States Attorney George Z. Medalla in corroboration of a recent statement by him that some local politicians were linked with racketeers. At the conclusion of his testimony the grand jury decided to investigate the alleged political criminal union.

PINE BLUF, Ark. — (P) — Falling to receive their monthly salary checks, due Tuesday, 14 players of the Pine Bluff team of the Dixie league refused to leave for their next game, with Tyler, Texas. Officials disbanded the club.

LUMBERTON, N. C. — (P) — Eight Lenoir county farmers were killed, and three critically injured, here Tuesday when their tobacco truck crashed into a Seaboard Air-line gas-propelled passenger train running from Hamlet to Wilmington.

Labor Trades to Meet on Tuesday

E. F. McFaddin Will Speak at the City Hall at 8

The labor trades of Hope will hold their third weekly meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the city hall.

E. F. McFaddin will speak, followed by a discussion of codes to be adopted under the NRA in the different crafts. Approximately 60 men had been signed up at the last report and it is expected to include about 200 by the time all the trades have been canvassed.

Special effort is being made to complete this organization work at once, since President Roosevelt and Administrator Johnson have fixed September 1 as the deadline for observing the NRA blanket agreement or adoption of special trade codes.

New Market for Home Loan Bonds

Open Trading Will Fix Definite Price for Mortgage Issue

WASHINGTON. — Having virtually completed the moves necessary to bolster the value of its bonds, the $2,000,000 Home Owners' Loan Corporation is preparing to establish an open market in these securities.

William F. Stevenson, chairman of the corporation, announced Monday that open market trading in the bonds is now only a matter of weeks.

Establishment of a steady open market for the corporation's bonds will bring new relief possibilities for distressed home owners, experts predicted Monday night. Setting up of a strong market for the securities will pave the way for more widespread mortgage exchanges, it was explained. Already about six steps have been taken to insure the strength of the market when it is established.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has announced that it will accept the bonds at 80 per cent of their face value. The Federal Reserve banks have made them acceptable collateral. The Treasury will permit them to be used as security for federal deposits.

State laws are in the making in several states to make the bonds eligible purchases for closed banks and savings banks. In addition to all these bolstering steps the corporation now announces that it will set up a reserve out of the $200,000,000 appropriated to it by Congress for interest and retirement charges.

Souvenirs!

Mr. Alex. H. Washburn, The Star, Hope, Arkansas.

Dear Mr. Washburn:

You will be interested in the attached request sent by readers of The Star to our New York Special Service Bureau for 22 copies of "Souvenirs," the collection of Helen Welshimer's poems. Booklets have been sent directly from New York. Orders are still being received in large numbers daily, and additional coupons will follow.

Books of poetry are often quite poor sellers, but here's one that brought over 12,000 orders from newspaper readers within a month. A second printing is now under way. This certainly indicates that this feature has established a wonderful following among readers of NEA client papers.

Miss Welshimer has also received a large number of letters from newspaper readers, telling her how pleased they are to have the booklet.

August 16, 1933
Cleveland, Ohio.

Very truly yours,

NEA Service, Inc.,

John Greene One of Vet Alternates

He May Serve on Special Board to Review Compensation Claims

LITTLE ROCK. — (P) — A special board of review announced by Veterans Administrator Hines at Washington Tuesday to pass on claims of Arkansas veterans affected by the president's drive on veterans' expenditures will meet here Wednesday.

John G. Pipkin, one of the three Arkansas appointees to the board, advised Washington he would be unable to serve because of his duties as business manager of the local schools.

One of the three alternates appointed will be designated by the chairman to serve in his place. The other regular members of the board are: Robert Montgomery, Jr., North Little Rock; Herbert V. Betts, El Dorado; and two rating specialists from the regional office at Oklahoma City, Dr. Clanton H. Athey and Walter E. Fillman.

The three alternates are: Wallace Owen, Russellville; John H. Greene, Little Rock, formerly of Hope; and Clifton R. Smith, Hot Springs.

Boarding Houses Are Bound by Cafe Code

LITTLE ROCK.—Harry E. Reese, president of the Little Rock Restaurant Association stressed the restaurant code and the provisions relating to hours and wages, at a meeting of the association at the Hotel Marion Monday night. He said that many boarding houses were ignoring the code.

Male employees cannot work over 54 hours per week and females cannot work over 48 hours per week. Although the code permits split shifts.

Big Rattler Killed at Bodcaw Bridge

A rattlesnake with 13 rattlers and a button, measuring 5 feet 11 inches in length, was clubbed to death Sunday afternoon near the double bridges at Bodcaw.

The huge reptile was killed by a party of youngsters en route by Bodcaw to Hinton. It was brought to Hope by Frank Barr and given to John Owens who is preserving the hide.

Hoover Asked to Appear at Trial

Senator Couzens Insists Ex-President Tell About "Bad Man"

DETROIT, Mich. — (P) — A letter was dispatched Tuesday to former President Hoover asking him to appear as a witness before the grand jury investigating the closing of two national banks here. His decision is asked "as soon as possible."

Couzens' Feud

DETROIT. — (P) — Officials of the one-man jury investigating Detroit's banking difficulties Monday night decided to request former President Herbert Hoover to accept a subpoena.

This action followed a request for his testimony, made 4 other jury by United States Senator James Couzens.

Senator Couzens had listed certain unnamed persons who, he said, had obtained loans from the closed banks which they would be unable to repay. Discussing one such debtor he said: "There is one director who was told by President Hoover that I was a very dangerous man. * * * At this particular time I want to urge the attorney general and the prosecutor to invite Mr. Hoover to come here and tell what a bad man I am."

Mrs. A. Swanke Is Head of Auxiliary

Succeeds Mrs. H. O. Kyler as President of Legion Women

Mrs. Arthur Swanke was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary of this city at a recent meeting of the organization. Mrs. Swanke succeeds Mrs. H. O. Kyler, retiring president.

Other officers elected are: Mrs. E. F. McFaddin, vice president; Mrs. W. M. Ramsey, secretary; Mrs. Calvin Cassidy, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Russell, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. V. Gunn, historian.

The newly-elected officers will be installed at the first meeting of the auxiliary in September.

Land Bank Meet Called Saturday

Oliver J. Lloyd, St. Louis, to Speak at Hope City Hall

The local association to be formed under the auspices of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis will hold an organization meeting at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 26, at Hope city hall.

The speaker will be Oliver J. Lloyd, vice-president and secretary of the Land Bank; and arrangements locally are being made by Frank Y. Trimble.

Mr. Lloyd's letter to Mr. Trimble reads in part:

I am expecting to be down in that part of the state next this week, and I am hoping that it will be convenient for you to have a meeting of the prospective charter members of the new association there on Saturday afternoon about 1:30."

Prohibition Due to Go Out in 78 Days

Missouri, by 3 to 1 Vote, Is 22nd to Ratify Repeal

WASHINGTON. — (P) — The quick-step repeal votes by 22 state sin-unbroken succession, topped by Missouri 3 to 1 ballot, Sunday showed the possibility that the Eighteenth Amendment could be voted out of the constitution within the next 78 days.

With only 14 more state votes needed to ratify the Twenty-first or repealing amendment, there is a strong probability that at least 17 states will ballot within that 11-week period.

The national interest which attended Saturday's voting in Missouri swung over to Texas, which will ballot next Saturday. The following Tuesday, Washington will cast its vote.

3 to 1 in Missouri

ST. LOUIS. — (P) — Repeal leaders, jubilant over their smashing victory in Missouri, Sunday announced formation of a organization to suggest regulatory laws for sale and distribution of liquor in the state.

More than 600,000 voters expressed their sentiment in Saturday's repeal election, with a majority of more than 3 to 1 favoring abolition of the Eighteenth Amendment. Unofficial reports from 3,449 of the state's 4,104 precincts showed 483,416 ballots for repeal and 135,589 against.

P. A. Tate, head of the state Anti-Saloon League, said prohibition leaders had not agreed upon a program but he said legality of the election would be challenged in the United States Supreme Court.

6 Compromises by Joint Committee Clear Up Tangle

Brew to Be Legalized Probably by Thursday Noon

ADJOURNMENT NEAR

Quick Acceptance Anticipated in Both Branches

LITTLE ROCK. — (P) — The joint conference committee decided upon six amendments to the beer measures and recommended them to both houses of the legislature Tuesday morning, with an early agreement upon the differences between the two houses predicted.

The proposed amendments would make the senate method of revenue distribution prevail, and retain the house system of local option by counties. The school district system of local option would be stricken from the house bill.

Retail dealers would be defined as those selling 16 gallons or less at a time.

The tax on wholesalers would be $50 per county, not exceeding a total of $250.

Retailers in the city must purchase state and city licenses; and outside the city, state and county licenses.

Both houses cleared the deck for a conference on the proposed amendments at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Beer Compromise Near

LITTLE ROCK. — (P) — The beer legislation was sent to a joint conference committee Monday with predictions in both houses of the legislature a speedy compromise on the two major differences would be reached.

Both presiding officers named large representations of their houses on the conference committee so as to bring into any compromise all divergent elements. The senate earlier had passed its beer bill, and the house has approved one.

The two main differences are the local option clause and the division of revenues of the beer tax.

The house beer measure contains two local option clauses—one permitting school districts on petition of a majority of voters to vote out beer, and the other permitting a settlement of the question under the initiative and referendum.

Neither house considered the beer question further than the naming of the conference committees, and the roll call in the senate on its beer measure, which was merely a formality.

Banking Bill

Virtually all the business of the session was completed in the two branches with the house bill by Wilkinson of Sebastian, providing for participation by state banks in the terms of the Glass-Steagall banking act, being sent to conference after the house declined to concur in a senate amendment. This amendment, by Senator Norfleet, requires the state banking commissioner when taking over a bank and restricting its operations, to issue to depositors certificates showing the amount of their restricted deposits which are assignable.

Colvin of Perry led the attack on the senate amendment, contending it would open frozen deposits to speculators.

The house witnessed another attack on the state revenue department, but friends of the depars forced through its appropriation of $19,800 for enforcement of the beer tax.

Little of Mississippi charged it had been whispered about that house members who wished patronage from the state relief committee "must see Fred Watson," the revenue commissioner.

Patronage Rumor Spiked

"I want to say that I have conferred with W. R. Dyess, relief director, said Mr. Little, "and he informs me that there is absolutely nothing to the report as there will be no patronage dispensed by him or the relief committee."

The house measure by Stanfield of Garland to continue three members of the old highway audit commission in power to adjudicate and compromise contractors' claims against the state highway commission, was passed by the house but a similar senate bill was amended.

After a session which lasted only 20 minutes, the senate adjourned. Senator Evans raised objection to the second reading of the house audit bill, after it had been discussed briefly, thus forcing consideration by that body over until Tuesday. The actions means that final consideration cannot be taken on it before Wednesday.

WASHING THE SCENES IN

Union Veteran Now Operator

Lawson, Teller, of Benefits

By ROBERT H. BUCHER

WASHING, D.C.—John Lawson, a hero in union labor history who used to be shot and shot at by coal company gunmen, came to the bituminous code hearings here as a coal operator.

Twenty years ago he was sent to prison on an indictment charging him with 13 murders.

Today he is vice president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Co. That's the concern made famous by Mrs. Joseph Roche, who accused it of paying five years ago to the United States Mine Workers to organize her mines and has since operated successfully while paying top wages in Colorado's only unionized coal area.

Co-operating With Union

Mrs. Roche and Lawson came to Washington to support the general coal code which Rocky Mountain and other companies worked out with President John L. Lewis of the U. M. W. Mrs. Roche told how greatly reduced operating costs and increased production per man had been achieved by the mine despite increased pay-rolls.

Lawson, a tall, gray-haired, specialized, rugged but soft-spoken man who has always worked for working men, has direct charge of Rocky Mountain's labor relations.

In 1914 he was on the U. M. W.

international board and had charge of the Colorado strike. Many attempts were made on his life and once he was shot, but he escaped.

When militiamen began bombarding

the strikers' tent colony at Ludlow

he made his way through a shower of explosive bullets, then went out again to bring reinforcements for the miners.

In his absence, 23 miners, women and children were killed, or burned to death; militiamen departed after burning the tents.

Many more were killed in the warfare through Colorado which followed.

Lawson was one of dozens indicted for murder, but company-controlled court As strike leader he was tried first and sentenced for life. He was imprisoned six months. Edward P.

Costigan, now U. S. senator, proved his innocence at a dramatic appeal trial, which attracted national attention.

Lawson's victory resulted in freedom for all other striker defendants and in his last campaign. Costigan's hand was shaken in several coal towns

by persons who said he had saved their lives.

Curb Tendency to Criticize Husbands

"Daddy, come on out in the boat, won't you?"

"I'm sorry, Bill, I can't today. I promised Mr. Steel to play golf. Tomorrow you and I can go fishing."

"You said that yesterday."

"I know I did. I didn't know Steel was going to turn up. But he's driving thirty miles to play with me, and I can't go back on him. Good-by, sonny. You get worms and we'll go sure tomorrow."

"Where's your father?"

"He drove over to the club to play golf."

"That's the way he does," said Bill's mother. "Thinks his friends are more important than his boy. And that old golf makes me furious. Here we come away for a vacation and he just walks off and leaves us alone."

Complaint

She was soon playing bridge with some other ladies, and Bill went down to the pony farm with a friend. They put in the afternoon very nicely.

That evening they all took a drive.

Bill wanted to see the lighthouse, so they went there. Then Bill wanted to go to the carnival, but his father said he was tired and as they were to get up early they had better go home.

"You don't do anything William wants," his wife complained. You are always finding some excuses."

"Holly smoke, I'm on a vacation,

Jack. I do all I can to show him a good time. But I am too busy at home trying to earn a living for us to take much time off for myself. And when I get away, surely I have a little right to do what I want once in a while.

I go about fifty-fifty with Billy, don't

I, kid? And he can have a good time without you or me every second. And you'd rather play bridge a minute than fish an hour, or the other way round. You don't play golf or I'd play with you. Stop making me out such a headache, fellow."

Too Quick to Place Blame

"It's all right, dad," said Billy hastily. "I guess I'm to blame. I complain too much."

But this little episode was typical of the situation in that family. The boy's mother was a bit too quick to lay the blame for everything on her husband, and to voice it to her son.

It is true that many men are too neglectful or indifferent to their children. Their wives, too. But I believe nearly all women have a certain tendency toward criticism of the male.

Children soon pick it up. It isn't a good idea. After all, men are but boys grown up. A wife has to play mother part of the time to this other big child of hers.

your chin in and keeping your shoulders thrown back.

Sometimes the neck muscles become stiff. Exercises will remedy that condition.

Stand or sit straight and throw your head as far back as it will go. Then tip it to the right, trying to touch your ear to your shoulder without moving your shoulder. Now stretch it downward to the left. Let your head hang loosely forward until your chin touches your chest. Keep your neck perfectly relaxed while doing each step. Repeat the exercise several times a day.

Relaxing your neck and rotating your head round and round in a wide circle is another step toward acquiring a graceful neck.

SOCIETY

Mr. Sid Henry Telephone 321

The world is too busy now to pause to listen to a whiner's cause. It has no time to stop and pet the sulkier in a peevish fret. Who waits he'll neither work nor play. Because things haven't gone his way. The world's too busy to implore. The beaten one to try once more. 'Twill help him if he wants to rise. And boost him if he braves the rise. And shows determination grim. But it won't stop to baby him. The world keeps plodding right along. And gives its favors right or wrong. To all who have the grit to work. Regardless of the fool or shirk. The world is occupied with men. Who fall but quickly rise again.

The Althean class of the First Baptist Sunday School will entertain on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on the church lawn, as special entertainment to Mrs. V. E. Smith, class member, who is leaving soon for her new home in Little Rock.

Despite the splendid boost given property owners in the spring by the R. F. C. toward cleaning up vacant lots and unsightly spots in the residence district, the August rains, while giving a fine help to the fall gardens, have also watered the weed patches, which not only destroy the beauty of the surroundings but make a place for the production of that dreaded pest, the tick. The civic committee of the Hope Garden club suggests that every property owner reading the above, take stock of his premises, cut the weeds and clean up all debris and all objects that are displeasing to the eye, so that the tourist returning from his summer vacation will have a pleasing impression of the town looking down between St. Louis and Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Brown and son, Arthur, of Little Rock, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Thompson.

Mrs. Wilbur Jones, Mrs. Cecil Walker and Mrs. P. E. City, of Ozon, were Monday shoppers in the city.

Mrs. Obie Roberts of DeAnn is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Fay Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Young and son, E. P. Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ward and Mrs. C. Cook, have returned from a week's visit in Chicago, where they attended the Century of Progress Exposition.

Miss Valladean Arnold of DeAnn is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marshall.

Melvin Allen and sister, Miss Nita Allen of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. David McMillan of Arkadelphia spent Monday in the city visiting with friends and relatives.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

Let's can our fruit by the pack method rather than the old-fashioned open-kettle. To be sure, they will "keep" by the open-kettle method because fruits contain enough acid to make them easy to can. But the flavor and quality are finer, the food value is greater and the work is no heavier when the pack method is used. It's a good idea to sort fruit, using the fine, perfect fruit for canning and the blemished for butters and

Tomorrow's Menu
Breakfast: Grapes, cereal, cream waffles and honey, milk, coffee.

Dinner: Boiled calf's tongue on a bed of spinach, creamed radishes, cabbage and green pepper salad, raspberry tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

preserves. The imperfections must be cut away and discarded before preparing any fruit for preserving or canning in any way.

Fruits are canned in thin, medium and heavy or thick syrups. The thickness of the syrup will depend largely upon family tastes and the use of the canned product. Fruits wanted for pies can be canned in this syrup. Very tart fruits and those wanted for sauce will need a thick syrup. Medium syrup is suitable for pears, most berries and small fruits.

This syrup is made by boiling one part sugar and three parts water for three minutes.

Medium syrup uses one part sugar and two parts water and boils the syrup three minutes.

Equal parts of water and sugar are brought to the boiling point but not cooked longer to make heavy syrup.

Fruit is washed and peeled or pitted as the case may be, ready for table use. Then it is pre-cooked for three minutes in syrup and packed hot in hot sterilized jars. Half seal, process, finish sealing and cool quickly.

Pour boiling water to cover over fruit. Dip at once in cold water. This makes the skins peel off very easily, just like tomatoes. Cut in halves and remove pits. Pre-cook in medium or heavy syrup, pack in hot jars, cover with boiling syrup in which fruit was cooked, half seal and process in hot water bath for 20 minutes, in oven at 275 degrees F. for 30 minutes, and in pressure cooker at ten pounds pressure for ten minutes.

Pool Committee to L. R. Thursday

Interview Assured Hope Men by U. S. Advisory Board

Virtual confirmation of Thursday as the date for a hearing on Hope's municipal auditorium project was given the local committee in a letter Tuesday from H. M. Bennett, secretary of the U. S. Public Works Advisory Board at Little Rock.

Mr. Bennett, following up Monday's telegram, "If possible, shall be happy to see your committee Thursday," wrote as follows:

"In explanation, will state that it has been found quite difficult to keep definite appointments. We, of course, must receive committee and have in the order of their appearance in our office, and while just at this time I do not anticipate any prolonged references which will prevent us seeing you Thursday, did not feel we could absolutely and definitely make an appointment. We, however, that you will have to get before us sometime during the day."

The money found in letters that went to the Dead Letter Office goes to the Treasury Department as miscellaneous receipts.

Scanning New Books

By BRUCE CATTON

"Mellon's Millions" by Harvey O'Connor, is subtitled, "The biography of a fortune." It is really a lot more than that. It is a searching critique on modern American life, a study of the way we have tried to make democracy and industrialism trot along the road together in double harness.

Mr. O'Connor takes your Uncle Andy and shows just how he got where he is. This witty, patrician-looking magazine is shown as the son of a penny-pinching Pittsburgh banker, a man who was trained from boyhood as a money-getter and who never once missed a trick.

The Mellons, suggests Mr. O'Connor, simply established themselves at Pittsburgh and levied toll on the amazing development of industry there. They had an iron in every fire; they were bankers, steel men, coal men, oil men, aluminum men, promoters, stock men, railroad men and public utility men. They bought labor cheap, says Mr. O'Connor, and sold its products dear; and today the family fortune is probably the largest in the nation.

With Mr. Mellon's record as treasury chief Mr. O'Connor is caustic. The boom and its resulting crash stem directly from the Mellon fiscal policies, he asserts. For a decade the country wealth; today's troubles, he suggests, was run to suit the oligarchy of and the logic and inevitable result.

This book is not precisely an attack on the Mellons. It is something deeper. It continually raises the question: can a country in which a fortune can be built up as this one was built up truly be called a free democracy?

WASH TUBBS

Contrasts!

AIM N' FIRE. AIM N' FIRE. NEVER A MISS. LIKE SWATTIN' FLIES, CHARLIE. A BLOOMIN' WHALE AIN'T GOT NO CHANCE.

AYE, GITS MONOTONOUS. GIMME ONE O' THEM OLD-TIMERS LIKE THAT "JONAH" WE SEEN. NOW THERE'S GLORY FOR YE, MAN. THERE'S ROMANCE!

MEANWHILE, THE LAST OF THE OLD-TIME WHALES IS NO MORE. HER CAPTAIN AND MATE ARE DEAD. HER CREW Huddles miserably on an arctic ice floe, wondering if, and how, they will ever reach land.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

A Go-Getter!

UPON HEARING FROM UNCLE JOHN THAT PAT LIKES HIM FOR HIS ROUGH METHODS, FRECKLES STEERS CLEAR OF PAT AND RED

WONDER WHY FRECKLES DOESN'T COME DOWN FOR A SWIM?

AW, HE'LL BE ALONG PRETTY SOON, PAT—THERE HE COMES, NOW, BUT HE HASN'T HIS BATHING SUIT ON! OH, FRECKLES!

WHY, HE'S GOING THE OTHER WAY—I WONDER IF I COULD HAVE OFFENDED HIM IN ANY WAY

NAH—GEE, DON'T WORRY YOURSELF OVER HIM—COME ON—LET'S GO IN AND I GO IN!!

NO—I'M GOING TO GO AND ASK HIM WHAT'S WRONG!

HMM—HE CERTAINLY CAN DISAPPEAR FROM SIGHT QUICKLY. WELL! I'LL SEE HIM AT DINNER TIME!!

WHEW! THAT WAS A CLOSE ONE! WHY DOESN'T SHE GO FOR RED?

THAT MAKES THE SECOND TIME THOSE TWO MEN HAVE CALLED ON THE NEWFANGLES! I WONDER IF IT COULD BE ANYTHING ABOUT THAT LETTER—I'LL DROP IN ON GLADYS

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

Dough-de-oh-Dough!

GEE, SUGAR, THIS HAS TAUGHT ME ONE THING—I'LL NEVER BELIEVE THAT AGAIN. I WAS AFRAID TO TELL YOU ABOUT MISS GOWDY BECAUSE I DIDN'T THINK YOU'D BELIEVE SHE HAD STOLEN THE $60

WELL, IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE THAT MRS. TYTE AND MRS. GIMMIE WOULD WRITE THAT LETTER TO THE POLICE

WE JUST WANTED TO BRING YOU YOUR $60—THAT GOWDY WOMAN CONFESSED 'TAKIN' IT

OH, BABY! OUR VACATION MONEY!!

IT'S MIGHTY NICE OF YOU TO RETURN MY MONEY—NOW, I WONDER IF YOU'D GIVE ME THAT LETTER OUR NEIGHBORS WROTE TO YOU?

WHY—AH—WHAT DA YA THINK, MIKE?

SURE! GIVE IT TO HER—WE'RE THROUGH WITH IT
